

Hospitality

Digital displays help the hospitality business acquire more guests, encourage them to use a wider range of services, and to return more often.

- Signpost customers to different areas of the venue
- Welcome messages for groups, wedding parties and other guests
- Use data feeds from back-office systems to automate your displays
- Display restaurant and bar menus
- Manual entry of key information is simple to use
- Create seasonal promotions
- Keep guests engaged with social media feeds

Where can you use LiveSpace digital signage?

Around the premises

Overhead menu boards with your full range of meals and deals

Wherever you provide conference and meeting room services

Front of house information with an interactive digital concierge

At the entrance

Help people feel welcome and signpost them to the things they want

Use interactive touchscreens to showcase your full range

Thank customers and direct them to the full range of services

On the street

Attract people with eye-catching advertising and window displays

Promote up-coming events and offers

LiveSpace makes your messages unmissable...

LiveSpace digital signage helps increase sales and keep people informed.

Respond to local opportunities

Localisation lets head office create and manage a list of promotions. Local managers are then free to choose the best offer for their local audience.

Zone your content

LiveSpace's grouping feature lets you zone your content. People in different areas of your buildings will see the right messages for them.

Exploit the power of live data

LiveSpace manages multiple data feeds and makes sure the offers you show match your customers' needs. Let your messages respond to changes in your data.
